CALLS TO ACTION

GOVERNMENTS, THE PRIVATE SECTOR, AND CIVIL SOCIETY SHOULD COMMIT TO THE FOLLOWING ACTIONS TO CREATE AN ENVIRONMENT THAT SUPPORTS AND ENABLES WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP

- 1. Commit to gender balance in leadership. Establish policies and practices that facilitate women's leadership, including equal pay, strong gender-sensitive budgeting, and transitional quotas. Tie compensation and promotion opportunities to progress in gender-balance commitments. Underpin policies by the collection and analysis of gender-disaggregated data.
- 2. Guarantee a safe and open environment for women's participation and leadership. Implement policies and laws against gender-based violence and sexual harassment, and ensure accessible justice.
- 3. Invest in systems and programs that promote and cultivate diverse leadership. Develop and sustain trainings, mentorships, and networks that model and foster strong female leaders. Provide ongoing systems to further women's personal and professional development.
- 4. Uphold women's agency. Guarantee girls and women's rights to bodily autonomy and decision-making about their own lives, including the pursuit of education and use of family planning.
- 5. Support women's organizations and movements. Provide women's organizations the space and opportunity to convene and organize without fear of persecution or retribution. Commit resources to movement building, research, and the development of leadership skills.
- 6. Change the narrative on women in leadership, and confront socio-cultural drivers of gender inequality. Depict and position women as effective leaders and role-models in marketing, political campaigns, and other public initiatives. Engage young people and men in efforts to change harmful gender norms at all levels.
